Our two sister companies, Ekistics Planning & Design and Form:Media, form one inter-disciplinary practice focused on place & space problem solving. From urban planning and architecture, to engineering, interior design, branded environments and signage / wayfinding programs; our diverse team of designers, engineers and problem solvers engage in holistic thinking beyond the bounds of the traditional compartmentalized professions.

Together, we are innovators, researchers, artists, strategic thinkers and change agents. We work with clients to discover the best possible solutions in a way that balances vision with practical realities.

Discover our unique approach to space and place design, where each client's needs are treasured, and each solution is tailored to the challenge.
